A Nation of Shop Keepers

(DIGITAL) (EP_Round 5)

Judge: Stephen Woollock

Simply put, street photography is about documenting everyday life and society. Street photography does not need to be shot in the street. You can shoot at the airport, at the shopping mall, at the beach, at the park, in the bus or in a subway, in the grocery store, or in any other public places. In this competition you are asked to look at retail as the subject for your street photography.

The picture is good or not from the moment it was caught in the camera. - Henri Cartier-Bresson
